

IT'S A SMALL WORLD: EVALUATION

LIFE SKILL EVALUATION

Individual Evaluation for *Accepting Differences

Suggestion for individual evaluation is as follows:

Draw a picture (or write a story) that shows you have learned about the culture of the people of one of the following nations/groups:

- China
- South Africa
- Guatemala
- Native Americans

Group Evaluation for *Accepting Differences

Evaluate the group as a whole, recording their answers to the following questions:

- What are some of the things we learned about the country of Guatemala?
- We made worry dolls when we talked about Guatemala. How are worry dolls used in Guatemala?
- What kinds of things did American Indians get from the earth?
- Let's take turns telling parts of the story of Abiyoyo, in order. What happened first . . . ?
- Let's describe the moon festival in China. What sorts of things did you see? What are families doing? What food are they probably eating?
- We learned lots of things about some of the countries and peoples of our world. In what ways would you expect the children to be like you? How would you expect them to be different? What are some other places and peoples that you would like to learn more about?
